I. INTRODUCTION

Although there are four skills that have known in teaching English, they are listening, speaking, reading, and writing. All of them are very important for the students and also they cannot separate one each other, but the important one is speaking. The students often think that the ability to speak a language is the product of language learning, but speaking is also a crucial part of the language learning process. From the statement above, speaking English is the measure from someone who studies about language. So, they can successful in learning language if they can speak the language fluently.

According to Brown, 1994; Burns & Joyce, 1997. Speaking is an interactive process of constructing meaning that involves producing and receiving and processing information. Its form and meaning are dependent on the context in which it occurs, including the participants themselves, their collective experiences, the physical environment, and the purposes for speaking. It is often spontaneous, open-ended, and evolving. However, speech is not always unpredictable. Language functions (or patterns) that tend to recur in certain discourse situations. Speaking requires that students not only know how to produce specific points of language such as grammar, pronunciation, or vocabulary, but also that they understand when, why, and in what ways to produce language (sociolinguistic competence)

Finally, speech has its own skills, structures, and conventions different from written language. A good speaker synthesizes this array of skills and knowledge to succeed in a given speech act.

Speaking is the delivery of language through the mouth. When people speak they create sounds using many parts of our body, including the lungs, vocal tract, vocal chords, tongue, teeth, and lips. Speaking is probably the language skill that most language students wish to perfect as soon as possible. Because of that, the students always want to increase their ability in speaking English. Also speaking is how someone says their opinion orally. Someone who speak English fluently will be said that he is master in English, but actually he is not master in those all four skill.

Speaking is a crucial part of second language learning and teaching. Despite its important, for many years, teaching speaking has been undervalued and English language teachers have continued to teach speaking just as a repetition of drills or memorization of dialogues. However, today’s world requires that the goal of teaching speaking should improve student’s communicative skill, because only in that way, students can express themselves and learn how to follow the social and cultural rules appropriate in each communicative circumstance.

Based on previous study conducted by Setyowati (2009) The Relationships among Teacher Effectiveness, Self-Efficacy and Academic Achievement of English Education Study Program Students, she said that every teacher or school has their own strategy in teaching speaking English. Some of them are successful in their strategy but some of them cannot gain their target. Moreover they have made the students are bored, lazy or afraid of learning English especially in speaking. This situation can be caused by the teaching strategy that is not suitable with the condition of the student. The teaching strategy in here is mean the way of the teachers in teaching speaking. The teaching strategies in speaking English is very important to the teachers, because with the suitable strategies so the teachers can teach speaking maximal to get their goal. The suitable strategies also can make students easy in learning speaking maximally.

According to PP, No. 19 (2005), state that the teaching process must be held in interactive, enjoyable, and give enough space to develop creativity that suitable with ability, desirability, and physical’ condition from the students. From that statement in teaching English process, the teacher must understand about the students’ need. The teacher must prepare first about everything that they need in teaching English process, especially in teaching speaking English. The teacher must prepare about the material, and method in teaching speaking that can make them easy in teaching speaking.

Non-formal education is very important and has rule to increase quality of education. There are many non-formal educations in our surrounding and one of them that can help the students’ English ability is English courses. There are many English courses have been built in Pare Kediri. Thousands of students graduate from this course and most of them have been successful in their future.

The aim of this course is to help the students’ easy in study English, not only passive but also in active condition. Sometimes some of the students who had been graduated from the course can join to teach English in that course.

The teaching process that happens at Genta English Course is the students not only study about vocabulary, grammar, reading, listening, and writing, but also they learn speaking. The students who study at Genta English Course should be able to speak English well. It is because this course has mission to make the students brave to speak in front of the public. They can discuss and share with their friends at Genta English Course area or in dormitory by English Language.

1. The Material Used In Teaching Speaking To The Basic Level At Genta English Course Pare Kediri

   And according to the theory, teaching material is things that will be used by the teacher to help him or her in teaching and learning process. Based on Panduan Pengembangan Bahan Ajar (2008:7), teaching material is the information, equipment and text for instructors that are required for planning and review upon training implementation. From the explanation above, it can be concluded that teaching material is a set of material that will be taught to the students and as a tool for the teacher in teaching and learning process.

   Based on Panduan Pengembangan Bahan Ajar (2008:11), there are two kinds of teaching material, printed and non-printed material.

   According to the theory. Speaking teaching and learning strategies in communicative approach are based on the way of active student learning, which is now known as Student Centred Learning (SCL). Here, learners need to be involved in the learning process spontaneously or are actively involved in the teaching-learning process (learning by T 3 doing). It is typical in a CLT classroom that it is not merely the teacher, but everyone presents who manages the classroom performance. Farrell and Jacobs (2010:114-115) maintains that teachers can no longer be regarded simply as teachers and learners just as learners, since they both are managers of learning. Ur (1996:120) added that the characteristic of a successful speaking activity are students talk a lot, participation is even, learners eager to speak and their language use is of an acceptable level. It is hoped that the students’ ability to communicate increase both orally and in written form.

The key principles of communicative approach are:

b. Designed to engage learners in the use of language for meaningful purposes.

c. Fluency and accuracy are seen as complementary principles underlying communicative techniques.

d. Students ultimately have to use language in unrehearsed contexts.
